First Conditional: real possibility

We are talking about the future. We are thinking about a particular condition or situation in the future, and the result of this condition. There is a real possibility that this condition will happen. For example, it is morning. You are at home. You plan to play tennis this afternoon. But there are some clouds in the sky. Imagine that it rains. What will you do?

IF condition	result
present simple	WILL + base verb
if it rains	I will stay at home.

Notice that we are thinking about a future condition. It is not raining yet. But the sky is cloudy and you think that it could rain. We use the present simple tense to talk about the possible future condition. We use WILL + base verb to talk about the possible future result. The important thing about the first conditional is that there is a real possibility that the condition will happen. Here are some more examples (do you remember the two basic structures: [IF condition result] and [result IF condition]):

IF condition	result
present simple	WILL + base verb
if I see Mary	I will tell her.
if Tara is free tomorrow	he will invite her.
if they do not pass their exam	their teacher will be sad.
if it rains tomorrow	will you stay at home?
if it rains tomorrow	what will you do?

result	IF condition
WILL + base verb	present simple
I will tell Mary	if I see her.
He will invite Tara	if she is free tomorrow.
